WAYS TO BUY LOCALLY GROWN

Visit a Local Winery or Distillery

There are many family-owned and -operated vineyards and distilleries in the Greater Lehigh Valley. Come out and taste the wines that have won countless regional, state, national, and international awards. See pages 64-65.

Look for Local Products in Retail Outlets

Many grocery and health food stores are offering locally grown products. Make a point to look for them, and if you don't see them, ask the store to start providing them. See pages 57-61.

Join a CSA or Farm Share

Community Supported Agriculture and Farm Share programs make it easy to eat more fresh vegetables. Sign up for a weekly share of the harvest, either picked up at the farm or delivered to your neighborhood or workplace. See pages 16-21.

Visit a Farm

Enjoy the on-farm experience! Our local farms offer a number of hands-on activities, including Pick-Your-Own (PYO) experiences, corn mazes, and outdoor pizza ovens. Bring the kids and have some fun! See pages 22-56.

Patronize Restaurants that Use Locally Grown Foods

The best restaurants in the Greater Lehigh Valley are choosing fresh, local ingredients for their menus. The next time you visit, thank them for supporting our farmers! See pages 66-69.

Eat Locally Grown at Work & School

Local institutions are learning about what's grown here in the Greater Lehigh Valley and including more locally grown items in their operations. See page 71.

5 REASONS TO BUY LOCALLY GROWN FOOD

1. It tastes better.

Local food is often harvested within 24-hours of being sold (or it is properly cured and stored for longer use). Local farmers are experts working hard to get the highest quality, most flavorful foods directly to you!

2. It's better for your health.

Locally grown foods use practices that are safer, reduce use of chemicals and pesticides, and are grown to retain the highest vitamin and mineral content - in short, they are healthier for you and your family!

3. It helps support our local family farms.

Farmers are hardworking members of our communities. Supporting them now means supporting the future of local farming, open spaces, and healthy, flavorful food for future generations.

4. It's better for the environment.

Local farms can have a huge impact on our local environment by reducing use of pesticides, building healthy soils that reduce erosion and disease, provide open spaces, regenerate the land and so much more!

5. It strengthens our local food system and economy.

Purchasing locally grown food keeps our food dollars circulating in our community, while also giving you a chance to connect with neighbors and explore what's grown in your own region.

READY FOR A ROAD TRIP?

Have you visited a local farmers' market with your family and enjoyed a day filled with conversation with local growers, local live music, activities for kids and best of all, come home with a bag full of fresh local foods and goods created by people who live in your community? Then you know the joys of agritourism, a special kind of tourism you can engage right in your own community, and that draws visitors to our region from hundreds of miles away. The Lehigh Valley's rich heritage of farms and growing operations, as well as its wineries and distilleries, markets and retail options for buying local foods, makes it a great place to visit and explore. Throughout this guide, you will find QR codes that will link you to videos and sections of the BFBL website, where you can see and learn more about the agritourism options available in the Lehigh Valley.

What is a Producer-Only Farmers' Market?

A producer-only farmers' market is a public and recurring assembly of farmers or their representatives selling the food that they produced directly to consumers. Farmers' markets facilitate personal connections and bonds of mutual benefits between farmers, shoppers, and communities. By cutting out middlemen, farmers receive more of our food dollars and shoppers receive the freshest and most flavorful food in their area and local economies prosper.

Trexlerstown Farmers' Market was created by a group of local farmers as a way to engage with our neighbors in Western Lehigh and Eastern Berks Counties, the same communities in which we live, work, and raise our families. The focus of the market is to provide access to locally grown and raised products directly from the producers themselves. No middlemen, no aggregators, no wholesalers. All of our Growers & Producers are located within a 30 mile radius of the market and are committed to delivering the highest quality local products available at their peak of freshness. Come taste the difference!

13 Vendors; EBT and FMNP accepted by some vendors.

"To come and see a real working farm, is to see where your food actually comes from." Explore this video to be introduced to local farmers, to learn the benefits of buying local, and to hear from visitors explaining why continuing the family tradition of pick-your-own fun is so important to them.

CSAs & FARM SHARES

CSAs

With COMMUNITY SUPPORTED AGRICULTURE (CSA), a consumer purchases a share (also known as a membership or a subscription) in the farm's harvest before the season begins and, in return, receives a box of seasonal produce each week throughout the growing season. Shares are usually picked up at the farm, although many farmers also have additional pick-up locations. This arrangement helps farmers by increasing cash flow early in the season when seeds and equipment need to be purchased and farm labor needs to be paid.

FARM SHARES AND ASCS (Agriculture Supported Communities) are similar to CSAs in that members receive a weekly box of produce. Farms Shares, however, are typically delivered to low-income neighborhoods, and members are allowed to pay for their shares weekly at pick-up. This makes fresh, local produce more accessible to people who may not be able to pay for the shares up front. SNAP benefits may also be used to pay for the weekly shares.

CSA SHARES usually contain vegetables, but some farmers also offer the following, either as part of the CSA or as an add-on: fruit, eggs, homemade bread, meat, cheese, flowers or other farm products.

The Monocacy Farm Project operates on a 10-acre farm owned by the School Sisters of Saint Francis. As a non-profit educational farm initiative, the MFP seeks to use the land and resources at Monocacy Manor to model stewardship and care of the earth, foster community involvement, provide educational opportunities, and serve the needs of the poor. The farm's operations include demonstration/production fields, a pick-your-own program, and community gardens. The project's Grow Healthy Community program grows and freely distributes fresh, healthy produce to soup kitchens and food pantries throughout the Lehigh Valley through our partners in the emergency food system. Educational programs exploring relationships among ecology, health, nutrition, and more are offered for people of all ages and abilities. A variety of volunteer opportunities that engage youth and adults with hands-on experiences are integrated among the seasonal activities of planting, growing, harvesting, and the distribution of fruits and vegetables.

We are currently farming over 2500 acres of crops, which include corn, wheat, soybeans and sweet corn. In the summer, our primary focus is growing and selling our premium quality sweet corn. Most of the sweet corn we grow is sold at The Corn Shed, which is located on our farm in Ruchsville. We also sell a whole host of fruits and vegetables that are produced on local farms. As a matter of fact, 90% of all the vegetables are grown on one Mennonite farm in Kutztown. Knowing the grower ensures us that we are selling the freshest vegetables possible to the Lehigh Valley region.

The “Eat Real Food” Mobile Market, a program of the Kellyn Foundation, visits ten local sites on a regular weekly schedule in Bethlehem, Easton and the Slate Belt. Our purpose is to bring healthy food at a reasonable price into neighborhoods that may not have easy access to healthy foods. We purchase as much local as we can get based on our local growing season. We also supplement with non-local foods to provide an array of healthy foods. Visit our website to find a delivery site near you.

High Point Kombucha is a small brewery specializing in single-batch, 100% raw, unfiltered kombucha in a large variety of flavors. We are proud to partner with a dozen local farms to source seasonal produce to create all of the flavors, never using juices or concentrates. Sourcing locally, using high quality organic teas, and using care in our process is what makes all the difference! The High Point mission is to make kombucha approachable, delicious, wholesome, and a responsible part of the Lehigh Valley food culture. Our kombucha is available in single bottles and growler fills at area farmers' markets and small retail stores.

Valley Milkhouse is an artisan creamery producing fresh and aged cheeses, butter and yogurt. We are inspired by the European cheesemaking tradition, making primarily French and Dutch styles. We handcraft each cheese with special attention to texture and flavor, and we seek to allow the terroir of the region to shine. Our milk comes from Spring Creek Farm and Dutch Meadows Dairy—both certified organic dairies feeding their cows a 100% grass-based diet. Spring Creek's herd is a mix of Jersey, Ayrshire and Holstein breeds. Dutch Meadows raises the rare Dutch belted breed of cattle, known for its delicate and easily digestible milk.
